About CONNECT-TBI

CONNECT-TBI is a national project based at Monash University. It is funded by the Medical Research Future Fund.

We are building a clinical quality registry for moderate to severe traumatic brain injury.

A clinical quality registry brings together information on treatment, management and long-term outcomes. It is used to improve care and enable future research.

What is involved

- Advise the project, drawing on your lived experience, to inform how it is designed
- At least three online meetings a year
- Members are remunerated for their time
- No research or medical experience is needed
